

The fire suppression certificate.

Sent by email from the contractor to the captain. Filed in the inbox.

The captain left the vessel six months later.

Inbox deactivated within a week. Normal management policy.

The certificate still exists on a server in another country.

Issued correctly. Paid for. Filed. Functionally lost.

Critical records live in inboxes. Inboxes outlive nobody.

The vessel did not own its proof. The departing captain did.

Until now.

The email is the record.

• Correspondence · linked		RETAINED
Subject	Gyro – failure mode note
From → To	Supplier · IT → Captain
Bound to equipment	EQ-0412 →
Surfaced on fault	AUTO

Indexed. Linked. Retained.

• Cross-Domain Chain	LINKED
Fault Report	FR-0847 →
Work Order	WO-3291 →
Parts List	PL-1104 →
Purchase Order	PO-0582 →
Receiving	CONFIRMED

The vessel owns its records. Not the inbox.

Control over your complexity.

celeste7.ai